NON-ACTION ITEMS

2. Police Department Update

Mr. Smith spoke on the modified monthly report, with the addition of a crime report that was issued to the councilors. Mr. Smith also issued the modified animal control report. Mr. Smith spoke on calls for service and manpower in 2014. There were a total of 80,000 calls in 2014 (per Dispatch records). Call volume had increased, and Officers were busy with workloads. The Police Department is currently down 11 Officers. Currently have five in the works, and have a couple of Police Service Aides that have moved up to the process of becoming a Police officer. The Recruit trip to Michigan did not go well, and are now going to try media advertising.

3. Animal Control Update

Mr. McFadin stated that Animal Control has been very busy. They have been flooded with requests for adoptions and foster agencies. The public is starting to get a feel of how things are changing and going to be done. Mr. McFadin stated there are two Animal Control Officers that need to attend training to get certified. Currently we are looking for funds so these two Officers can attend. Recently new equipment (truck/supplies) was obtained. The New Admin employee has been extremely busy getting the feel of how Animal Control works. Mr. Grant inquired about the POS system at Animal Control? Mr. McFadin stated once we get the new IT person in place, that we will move forward with the POS system. The other system, for public to view availability, will be ready as soon as equipment needed is installed on tower. Monthly report was then reviewed and about 88% of animals were placed in 2014.

4. Officers Availability to work with Different Organizations Update

Mr. Smith stated that the Police Department currently has the orders together, just need municipal rule or ordinance allowing the Officers to work high-risk situations. Mr. Zarr (City Attorney) is currently working on this.

5. Neighborhood Stickers for Roswell High School Update

Mr. McFadin stated that the stickers are almost complete and just waiting on signs to be complete. Mr. Sanchez inquired about what kind of signs they will be? Mr. McFadin stated they will be parking by permit only. Will obtain either a sticker or placard showing they have a permit and will allow them to park in front of their house during school hours. Mr. McFadin stated the final draft has not been reviewed yet, but just about complete.

Chiefs Summary

Patrol/Traffic/Animal Control

Traffic:

The total accidents reported for the month of February 2015 is (147) and by districts are as follow:

Adam (38)	Delta (23)
Baker (13)	Echo (28)
Charlie (43)	Frank (2)

Of the 147 accidents, 23 persons reported injuries and we had no deaths as a result.

Of the 147 accidents, 19 persons were cited for Failure to stop / yield, 14, people were cited for Speeding violations, 3 were cited for Improper turn or lane change, 40 were cited for Moving violations backing, overtaking, etc.

Sixty-eight were cited for driver inattention (careless driving) and other moving violations due to weather, road conditions and hit and run accidents.

Officers wrote 164 citations to include no driver's license, no insurance and no seatbelts.

For the total of the 147 accidents 32, were in parking lots, where reports were filed. There were two accident reports filed by no location indicated, due to hit and run accidents the vehicle or property owner no knowing where the accident occurred, we did have six Hit and Run accidents reported for the month of February.

The first recommendation would be to increase the Traffic Division by at least two in the future or as manpower would dictate. The reasoning would be to create more of an impact on motorists (resident and no resident) by proactive enforcement versus reactive enforcement. With the addition of Officers in the Traffic Division, they would be more able to utilize their time concentrating on speed problems, red light enforcement, and Stop sign enforcement, in various areas within the city.

The second recommendation would be to increase the penalties of the fines, which Sergeant Charlie Corn has already researched and has proposed to Municipal Court Judge Mallion and City Council.

It has also been suggested to update the Radar detection equipment, due to the large number of hand held systems the Roswell Police Department are currently using are old and expensive to repair, often costing more than the unit is worth. A large portion of these systems are not operable and are not being used in Police units, for various reasons i.e.: brackets, wire systems, battery issues or the radars are just not acquiring the target (not working).

Patrol:

I along with the Patrol Sergeants have a monthly meeting to discuss statistics, trends and topics discussed during the weekly staff meetings. I have also asked the Sergeants to start moving more toward the Community Policing Ideas and Public relations, during contact with public both positive and negative.

Patrol Officers continue to use the scheduled Investment area patrol technique. During the past month of making the transition to the subsections of each district and working three districts a day, arrests have increased as well as citations and consensual contacts. I have asked for more frequent patrols of the motels, leading to a decrease in reported burglaries recently, although the colder weather and snow may have also attributed to the decrease of these burglaries.

Detective A. Aldana will transfer to the Patrol Division as a Sergeant on March 06, 2015.

Recruit Officers Basile, Beeler and Olivares have been assigned to patrol shifts and are currently assigned to Field Training Officers; all appear to be making the transition well.

February 25, 2015, RPD Officers responded to Cowboy Café in reference to an Assault. Officer Scott Hendrix and Mike Fry are currently investigating an Assault of Cody Manz by CCSO Alan Covarrubias. CCSO Mike Herrington and Sheriff Britt Snider are aware of the investigation. Statements made later by Manz revealed a possible Intimidation of a Witness also.

I would like to discuss the promotion of Ricky Romero and the movement of Sergeant Joe Smith to be Sergeant of the SRO's, this movement would only affect the Patrol Division by one less Patrol Officer on mid-nights. It is my opinion the benefit would be greater than the loss, for morale and assistance to the SRO program to have an immediate Supervisor at during their work week.

I have volunteered and attend meetings and workshops at Hunger Coalition, DUI, Mental Health and Every 15 minute program meetings. I feel this is beneficial working toward the Community Policing concept and will transition others supervisors or volunteer Officers into these roles as a contribution to the City.

I have had the opportunity to offer guidance to seasoned Officers as well as to recently released Officers as far as recommendations for prosecution in cases and follow-up investigations. I have also made it known to the Patrol Sergeants they will also be held accountable for incompleteness of reports and shortcomings of their subordinates due to lack or negligent supervision.

SWAT:

On March 04, 2015, the SWAT team will be conducting testing for three open Operator positions. We have five Certified Officers who have applied and will be testing.

“Active Killer” instructors Ryan Craine and Scott Wrenn have been assisting CCSO Lt. Mike Herrington with “lockdown drills” at local elementary schools. Lt. Mike Herrington complimented the two Operators with their assistance. The SWAT team has also been certified in the “Active Killer” recent 8 hours course, which was used during training on February 18, 2015.

Animal Control:

Animal Control continues to work with rescue groups and citizens of Roswell, with displaced domestic animals.

On Wednesday, February 25, 2015, Commander Gonzales met with Carolyn Drakurich and Joanne Irish, with Rangely Rescue to continue discussing ideas for rescuing animals from the shelter and decrease euthanasia.

Animal Control will be hosting a Rabies Clinic at five of our local fire stations on March 8, 2015, and will be selling City Dog Licenses during the event. Ms. Drakurich is coordinating with Supervisor Joseph Pacheco to provide volunteers for the event.

Two of the recently hired Animal Control Officers will be attending an Animal Control Certification Course in Taos, New Mexico, four weeks from today. Both Officers are motivated and compassionate with working with animals, and are eager to learn the City ordinances.

Accreditation-

Denise Carabajal transitioned to the position of Accreditation and Special Projects Manager for the Roswell Police Department. She has been tracking and maintaining accreditation files throughout the month. An audit was completed at the north garage to ensure that tracking procedures for that location were being maintained. Several accreditation standards also changed during the month of February and an audit of our Policy and Procedure Manual was completed to ensure that we are still in compliance with the new standards. There were no deficiencies found within our policies or practices.

Training-

Officer Harrell completed FTO readiness training with three new recruits during the month of February. The recruits are now in the field for phase one of their field training. The revamp of our Field Training Program is also well under way, we restructured the Daily Observation Form, as well as implemented a newly revised Standard Evaluation Guideline document. We have also implemented post FTO debriefs with the newer Officers in order to evaluate the performance of the Field Training Officers.

Manning-

We are currently ten positions down. We have two additional individuals that we have extended conditional offers to, and they are currently awaiting psychological and medical evaluations. There were 9 applicants that showed up to test and of those, 8 of them passed the physical and written portions however 4 of those were eventually disqualified completion of the supplemental packet and interview process. Of those, 2 of them were disqualified for integrity issues and dishonesty, 1 was disqualified for maturity issues, and 1 was disqualified as he was a previous recruit that didn't work out due to lack of commitment. One other individual from the previous months' applicant pool was also disqualified for being dishonest in his background check regarding previous employment and failure to accurately disclose the circumstances involving an arrest which ended up being domestic violence oriented.

As a summary we currently have ten open positions with two individuals nearing the end of the hiring process, and four individuals that we are about to begin background checks on. It is expected that all four background checks should be completed and those that clear the background portion of the process should be receiving conditional officers at or around the first of April.

Recruiting-

We have started an online recruitment campaign geared to reaching out to out of state applicants. I deemed that this is the most cost effective way to promote ourselves and recruit qualified individuals from a much greater pool of potential applicants. We have reached out to seventy one community colleges, police academies and police related web pages in seventeen states post hiring notices and links to our recruitment page. In the last couple of weeks we have received several phone calls from interested parties and seven letters of interest stating that they would be submitting an application, however we have received only two applications directly connected to this campaign at the time of this report. As these potential applicants finish their respective academies and training I believe that these numbers will increase.

Dispatch-

Officers responded to 2,563 calls for service in the month of February, this is down by 121 calls from last year.

Officer Initiated Activities were 3,211 which is an increase of 152 activities from this month last year.

In addition the arrests for the month were 520 which was down 73 from last year.

There were also 1530 traffic citations written, which is a significant increase over the 1148 from the previous year.

Records-

Records Department is functioning smoothly under the guidance of Ms. Davey who has taken a progressive approach to procedures under her control. She has implemented several new spread sheets and is working towards transitioning away from use of the typewriters throughout her division for any purpose. She has begun reviewing protocols and policies that may have been left over from previous records management systems that have no real reason to continue their practice with Sungard RMS. She has also restructured the shift scheduling to better accommodate the staff and morale seems to be good over-all, even though many of them have been working extra hours to cover the staffing shortage. I expect that new front desk receptionist should be hired and nearly completed with training by the end of the month, so long as there aren't any unforeseen delays in the process.

I have spoken with Deputy Chief McFadin and we have decided to reallocate additional records vacancy to assist him with the additional paperwork responsibilities regarding animal control. The transition of these duties is expected to occur within the first two weeks of March.

Technology-

There have been several computer problems throughout the department on a nearly daily basis over the last several months. Fortunately, many of them I have been able to work through with my limited knowledge of computers. There are several that have required the help of Lt. Bechtel from the Fire Department to rectify, and had it not been for his willingness to come and assist us we would have suffered greatly. With this being said, there are more and more issues popping up as time goes, many of which require specific knowledge of our network and software. At this point in time we do not have someone who has an extensive knowledge of the Sungard Software and also possesses a good working knowledge of our network. Lt. Bechtel and I have learned a lot while working through the day to day problems that keep occurring, but our overall knowledge of the system has left several problems unable to be resolved. It is my assessment that continuing to operate in this fashion could leave us vulnerable to potential problems that might otherwise be avoided. I will be setting up a meeting with the cities new IT manager to find out how we should go forward with network and software management training for our people in house, or if it is his intention to hire more individuals and bring them up to speed with things so that they can address problems such as we are having in the future.

The goal for Deployment of the Taser Axon Flex body cameras is full integration to the Patrol Division by mid- March. Charles Foster from Taser International will be in Roswell on the 6th of March to do system administrator training, as well as Train the Trainer classes. We are hoping to have approximately 25 Officers go through the Train the Trainer training to assist in the overall training of the Patrol Division prior to deployment. I will also be following up with New Mexico Self Insurers in reference to a potential for reimbursement on the purchase price of the cameras', as well as the possible funding of cameras' for the other divisions within the department. I will report on my findings in regards to this at a later time, but it is likely that the funding is only for the camera's themselves and not the cost of the evidence storage.

Street Crimes/Intelligence/SRO

Submitted by Cmdr Tom Moody and Sergeant Ray Sharpe

*Officers of the Street Crimes Unit had a productive month with 458 self-initiated activities, 31 Misdemeanor arrests, and 12 Felony arrests. Traffic enforcement was conducted during routine patrols and issued 80 traffic citations.

*Cold weather and numerous snow days decreased average self-initiated activities, based solely on minimal pedestrian activity in high crime areas that typically generate contacts for investigation by unit members.

*As warmer weather sets in, unit members will pick back up on pedestrian contacts and investigations into suspicious and criminal activity at the street level. There is a projected rise in crimes against property as it warms up, specifically burglaries and shopliftings. Unit members will continue to perform weekly analysis of these trends and will adapt their activities as necessary.

*A status meeting was conducted the last week of the month, and unit members were tasked to come up with Operation Plans based on specific crime trend analysis, and will be put into action within the next several months.

*There will be a shift from typical daily activities, which had previously been comprised of the first half of the shift doing purges of active warrants in RMS, and doing field work to attempt to serve those warrants. Too much of the time spent in the field comes up with bad addresses for wanted subjects, with no further leads to their current whereabouts. Plans are being implemented to remedy this and reduce time wasted in the field on these warrant service attempts.

*There are now directives to unit members to increase community policing practices by conducting more neighborhood saturation patrols, increasing visibility of unit members. They are also being tasked to perform more proactive and positive Citizen Contacts in a variety of neighborhoods to establish a rapport with community members, increase awareness on police services, and allow Citizens an opportunity to have face time with unit members to air their specific public safety concerns affecting them and their neighborhoods. Weekly reports by Memo by each unit member will be forwarded to the Unit supervisor on what they are obtaining from these community policing practices.

Criminal Investigations Division

Submitted by: Cmdr Levi Moody

The following pages cover overall statistics of the division to include the total amount of cases assigned, cleared, how cleared, and active. The statistics include division totals as well as individual Detectives' totals for the month.

The division highlights for the month of February are:

*Detective Robert Scribner attended "Child Abduction Investigation and Response" training in Albuquerque and learned some investigative techniques about how to first ensure whether the case is a true abduction and, if so, how to proceed with the investigation.

*Detective Grace Fresquez attended the "Reid Technique of Interviews and Interrogations" training. This is the standard technique used by most Detectives in the division and will help as she continues to investigate crimes and build her knowledge base in conducting interviews.

*The District Attorney's Office finally signed off on an arrest warrant for Antonio Romero in regards to the Homicide of Javier Castillo. This was the case where a body was found buried in a yard in December 2013.

*TSU was finally able to get AFIS (Automatic Fingerprint Identification System) up and running and able to share database with Ruidoso Police Department. So far, AFIS has matched 13 latent prints to suspects in 2 Residential Burglary cases and a Battery on a Peace Officer case.

*TSU is building the AFIS database daily by utilizing newly scanned fingerprints, fingerprints scanned into the old system, and uploading inked print cards into the system. The intern is working out well by assisting with confirming type matches identified by the system.

*TSU is building a "short list" fingerprint database for anybody charged with any "precursor" crimes of burglary in order to more quickly match latent prints found at burglary scenes.

The agency is beginning to display the professional high level of police service delivery which has been a goal since inception. Numbers are down in appropriate categories due to hard work, leadership and a supportive City Administration. We may also be witnessing the difference a fair Judicial System makes when it is providing an undesirable end for criminal miscreant behaviors.

The Roswell Police, fair, impartial and consistent... at the service of the Roswell Community
